

WELCOME, BELOVED HUMAN

Dear human, precious and spiritually wild, sacred rebel, you who dares to seek truth and live from your heart, I encourage you to believe in the beauty of what can be — for you, for our world, for all beings.

As a creative, original, unique human, you have the power to create and contribute, rather than collapse and conform to what the world says you should be.

You are valuable and worthy, and your life is your own to live in the way that you choose, to learn the lessons and generate the experiences that have meaning to your heart.

You may not be able to control the situations happening around you, but you have the power to work with your circumstances to bring forth blessings for yourself and for all.

Through the courage of your heart and strength of your mind, you can access the creative power within to transform your life, and our world, into a more generous, kind and magical place to be.

The spirituality within you is wild. That means it is always truthful, unconditioned and instinctive. This is the part of you that is genuinely free and will guide you on your authentic life journey. May you recognise and trust this loving spiritual intelligence within, especially in the moments when your path diverges from conventionality and asks you to have the courage to become more fully yourself.

May you claim your consciousness and create beautiful manifestations with love!

*With blessings,
Alana x*

HOW YOU CAN WORK WITH THIS DECK

CARD READINGS

To perform a simple oracle reading, close your eyes for a moment, hold the cards in your hands and say, “I call on the guidance that loves me unconditionally and upon my own higher self. I call upon the creative powers of love and I ask for your grace, protection, healing and insight now. So be it.”

Then ask your question out loud. If you don't have a specific question for your reading, then simply say, “I open up to receive the guidance and healing that I need most right now. Through divine grace, so be it.”

Then shuffle the deck. You can do this until a card jumps or falls out of the deck or until you feel you have shuffled enough. Then simply place the cards down and choose as many cards as you are attracted to. You may like to choose one or several. Remember, sometimes one is enough.

If you find you are getting the same card or cards repeatedly, your higher self is trying to get your attention. It is not an accident; it is a communication with emphasis.

If you don't understand the message of the card, ask for guidance and clarification. Then either choose another card, or step away and allow your intuition to brew and become stronger. The understanding you need can often arise unexpectedly and spontaneously later on.